..."the best part of Christmas, and ya' don't want to miss this, is..."

This is a year of stateside assignment and we have enjoyed seeing family, but also visiting our churches from Tennessee to California. In Ulysses, Kansas, a pink piggy Volkswagen Beetle seemed out of place, but a highly decorated old car in Seligman, Arizona, fits this Route 66 town well as it prides itself on being Disney Pixar's "Cars" town.

Beth and I were able to take a week off in northern Arizona where we were able to visit Prescott, Sedona, Williams, Flagstaff, The Grand Canyon, Montezuma's Well & Castle, and Jerome.

Now that we are back in Tennessee, Eric has been busy singing and speaking in local churches while Beth enjoys a bit of a break from traveling. Of course, the greatest part of being in Tennessee this time of year isn't just enjoying a Tender Tennessee Christmas, but spending time with our daughter who is in her third year at a university near Chattanooga. It would seem The Best Part of Christmas is truly spending it with family.
